Action by Judge Lessens Tension In Race Crisis

Second Negro Woman Refused Admission to School

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge today dismissed a contempt charge filed against a University of Alabama dean for refusing to admit a second Negro to the school.

The action by U. S. Judge Howard Grooms tended to lessen for the moment mounting tension over the race crisis at the state university at Tuscaloosa which has suspended one Negro coed after riotous demonstrations.

Today's phase of the drama came in Federal Court here where a Negro attorney pressed demands that Dean W. F. Adams be cited for contempt of court for refusing to admit Mrs. Polly Ann Hudson as a Journalism student.

A Federal Court decree had ordered that Adams enroll "all qualified persons regardless of race."

Both Mrs. Hudson and Autherine Lucy, the coed whose admission to Alabama caused a big uprising earlier in the week, are Negroes.

Mrs. Hudson's lawyer moved for a postponement of the hearing on grounds that Miss Lucy's suspension would mean that "Mrs. Hudson would not be allowed to enroll at this time anyway."

Groom overruled the attorney who then moved for dismissal of his own petition seeking to have Adams cited for contempt.

CO-ED REJECTS INVITATION TO STUDY AT U. OF COPENHAGEN

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Autherine Lucy rejected an invitation to study at the University of Copenhagen because the Negro coed wants to continue her fight for admission to the University of Alabama, the newspaper Politiken said today.

The invitation was extended Wednesday by the Danish "League for Tolerance" to the Negro student whose admission to the U. of Alabama touched off a campus riot. The league offered to pay Miss Lucy's transportation and tuition costs.

application for enrollment after the university's board of trustees ruled she was not entitled to admission on moral grounds. The board pointed out that she is seeking a divorce.

The same board barred Miss Lucy from the school on Monday, two days after she began attending classes in library science. It decided to employ "police powers" to keep her away from the school after two days of severe demonstrations in which eggs and stones were hurled.

Trustees said the action was taken to restore order and to insure safety "for all concerned." Shores said the "police power" the board used to exclude Miss Lucy can be overruled by "constitutional rights." And he said the university's action in rejecting Mrs. Hudson, 23, had no foundation.

The university campus at Tuscaloosa was calm and orderly today. The university claimed a large part of the rioters were "outsiders," but a student pro-segregation leader disputed the claim and said most were students.

Gov. James Folsom was told Wednesday night in a formal report on the situation that the Monday rioters intended to kill Miss Lucy.

At his news conference Wednesday, President Eisenhower said he "deplored" the mob action.

Fine Meals are Served at Low Cost in HTHS Cafeteria

VISIT: O' Timmo was at the high school yesterday and had lunch in the cafeteria with others, the guest of Principal Eltis F. Henson.

First thing I noticed was the improvement in surroundings. A lot of rusty apparatus had been removed and replaced with gleaming stainless steel, the walls had been painted in striking color scheme, the curtains were bright, and the windows were so clean it was like having outdoors right in there with you.

Parents, did you know they're serving fine meals out there to your boys and girls in high school for only 35 cents? And for an extra penny there's a second glass of milk.

I was amazed at the goodness of the food and was equally amazed at the few who are taking advantage of the cafeteria. Mr. Henson said gains had been made but that the total eating in the cafeteria now was a little over two hundred. There are more than 800 students in school.

Of course, there are numerous reasons why some students do not take advantage of the fine meals at low cost but in case parents didn't know, I thought I'd tell you.

AT THE SCHOOL I learned that Gene Bland, basketball coach who had been a patient in Lightner hospital since Jan. 13 after suffering a coronary occlusion at a basketball game, was being convalescing at home since Monday.

Also, I learned that Jim Cummins, HTHS junior athlete, was still being given examinations at Barnes hospital, where he has been a patient for more than a week.

I ALSO LEARNED how the 1956 Saline county basketball tournament came out. Financially, that is. Here is a breakdown:

Total receipts were $1,653.20. Expenditures amounted to $579.42. That brought the net receipts to $1,073.78.

You can divide that by four and get the amount received by each of the four schools participating in the meet: Eldorado, Galatia, Carrier Mills and Harrisburg got $268.45 each.

In case you're interested, the first tourney back in 1954 was the biggest financial success, with each school getting $327.94. Last year attendance fell way down and the shares were $210.

The Saline county tourney is a wonderful thing. Let's keep it at the high level where it's been the past three years and have no incidents that could mar or ruin it. It's good for all four schools, and no fans have very far to travel to see two fine games each night.

Action Accepted By Illinois Electoral Board

Assures Downstate Democratic Leader Of Another Term

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The State Electoral Board Wednesday disapproved petitions of six candidates for the April 10 primary and allowed 10 withdrawals, including one that assure powerful downstate Democratic leader Paul Powell another term in the Legislature.

The board accepted the withdrawal of K. Neil Thurmond, mayor of Johnston City, who had filed in the Democratic primary against Powell, state representative from Vienna and former speaker of the House.

Thurmond had been reported ready to make a strong campaign against Powell in the 59th District. He was Powell's only opposition and the withdrawal assured Powell of re-election since the Democrats will seek only one seat in the district.

Powell Won Backing
Thurmond said at Johnston City that he withdrew because the Democratic organization threw its support to Powell. He said the organization was sponsoring a meeting next Friday in Vienna, with Richard Stengel, candidate for the U. S. Senate, and Herbert C. Paschen, organization candidate for governor, as principal speakers.

"When I saw that I knew how things stood," Thurmond said, "I could have beaten Powell if the organization had stayed out of it. But the way it is, the fight would only have torn up the party in this area and the odds would have been against me anyway."

The board disqualified three Republicans and three Democrats. They included:

James R. Zinn, Chicago, candidate for delegate to the Republican National Convention. The board said his petitions failed to show the district in which he wished to be a candidate.

Names Ruled Invalid
Republican Lloyd Ziegler, Elgin, candidate for state senator from the 58th District. Ziegler filed 388 petitions, but 173 names were ruled invalid because there was no indication of the signers' party affiliation. This left Ziegler 76 names short of the required 301 signers.

Republican Harry Teune, Evergreen Park, candidate for state representative from the 6th District. The board found Teune's address was in the 2nd, not the 6th, district.

Democrat Arthur J. De Runtz, Alsip, candidate for state representative from the 2nd District, failed to send a statement of candidacy with his petitions and did not number his petitions.

Democrat Lillian T. Szajkowski, Chicago, candidate for state representative in the 12th District, did not send a statement of candidacy and loyalty oath attached to her petitions.

Democrat Sylvester Koch, East Carondelet, candidate for trustee of the Prairie Du Pont Levee and Sanitary District, did not have his name on his petitions.

IT'S A FUNNY THING ABOUT CLASSIFIED ADS

The more we run, the more fun we have.

T. A. Sullivan, the painter, was surprised to find a bundle of unwashed clothes on his front porch a few days ago.

He put in an ad to notify the owner. Results—the owner called, the taxi driver who had delivered the duds to the wrong address called and the Sullivan returned to their paint jobs.

It would be fun to own that talking parrot advertised in today's classifieds. No, it doesn't say any bad words—owner just has two and one's enough!

Gov't to Support Corn Prices at $1.40 Per Bushel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will guarantee commercial corn farmers $1.40 a bushel—81 per cent of parity—for their 1956 crop.

This compares with $1.58, or 87 per cent of parity, for the 1955 crop.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson announced the 1956 minimum support rates for corn, small grains, and oilseeds Wednesday.

He raised the national average support price and the parity rate for soybeans, flaxseed and cottonseed. He retained the 1955 parity rates for oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums but lowered the dollars and cents support rates for these grains.

Support rates for all commodities were based on their Jan. 15 parity price. The minimum support levels will not be reduced. However, they may be increased if a combination of the parity price and supply relationships on Oct. 1 indicate a higher support price.

Price supports for 1956-crop oilseeds:

Soybeans—$2.15 a bushel, or 75 per cent of parity. This compares with $2.04 a bushel, or 70 per cent of parity, for 1955.

Flaxseed—$3.09 a bushel, or 70 per cent of parity. Last year it was $2.91 a bushel, or 65 per cent of parity.

Cottonseed—$4.8 per ton, or 70 per cent of parity, compared with $4.6 per ton, or 65 per cent of parity last year.

The parity rate of 70 per cent for small grains was carried over from 1955. This rate, based on the Jan. 15 parity price, reflects these support rates: Oats—59 cents a bushel, compared with 61 cents in 1955; barley—93 cents a bushel, compared with 94 cents in 1955; rye—$1.16 a bushel, compared with $1.18 in 1955; grain sorghums—$1.80 a hundredweight, compared with $1.78 in 1955.

The 81 per cent parity rate for corn was based on the Jan. 15 parity price of $1.73 per bushel. In turn, this price reflects the transition to modernized parity which is limited by law to not more than a 5 per cent downward adjustment in any one year. The old parity price last year was $1.82 a bushel.

'Wings Over Jordan' Choir to Sing at First Methodist Church Sunday Night

The "Wings Over Jordan" choir of 12 voices, making a personal appearance Sunday, Feb. 12, at 7 p. m. at the First Methodist church, is one unit bearing the name of the world's most famous Negro choir.

Harrisburg is fortunate to have this unit of the "Wings Over Jordan" choir—a name known to every music lover—in a personal appearance here, sponsors say.

Six months after their first broadcast, "Wings Over Jordan" became one of the featured programs of a coast-to-coast Columbia Broadcasting System hook-up where they were heard by millions every Sunday morning, for more than ten years. Their broadcasts were interrupted when "Wings Over Jordan" was chosen as the only choir group to be sent to the battlefield during World War II. They visited servicemen in Italy, France, Belgium and Germany, and received two special citations from commanding generals in the European Theatre of Operations.

STEEL BEAMS FOR THE HARRISBURG JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL construction job arrived in Harrisburg Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The beams are a part of the overhead structure of the auditorium and have been placed near the sidewalk on South street as the building hadn't progressed to a point where the steel could be used at the time of delivery. The huge beams are 72 feet 7 inches long and 11 of them weighed 18,700 pounds, according to the driver of the transport bringing them to this city. The steel came from Mesker Steel, Evansville, and was delivered to Harrisburg on an 85-foot rig from the Eck Miller Transportation Co. Dewey Allison of Owensboro, Ky., was the driver. A crane from the Orval Dean trucking company, Harrisburg, was used to remove the beams from the rig to the sidewalk. Twenty-one of the beams were delivered, coming here in two separate loads.

2 U. S. Airmen Die, Victims of European Cold

ROME (AP) — A U. S. mercy convoy of 25 trucks struggled southward today through raging snowstorms that heaped new misery on thousands of Italians reported in danger of starvation.

The icy blasts of the cold wave born on the steppes of Siberia reached across the Mediterranean and struck Egypt. Dropping temperatures and snowstorms were reported again in Western Europe. London had a heavy snow fall.

The Europe-wide death toll in the worst cold wave of the century reached 23. Normally warm Italy was hard-hit. At least 62 persons were known dead.

Storms also were taking their toll at sea. Eighty fishermen were missing and feared lost off the coast of the mid-Atlantic Portuguese island of Madeira.

Two U. S. airmen were among the victims. They died in their sleep from the fumes of a gas stove left on to heat their rented room at Aviano, near the U. S. Air Force radar warning base at Udine close to the Yugoslav frontier. Air Force authorities withheld identification pending notification of the next of kin.

U. S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce ordered emergency movement of food and clothing, after conferring by cable with the State and Defense departments in Washington.

Lincoln Story Presented at County Meeting

The Saline County Historical society commemorated the birthday of Abraham Lincoln at a meeting held at the Mitchell-Carnegie Library Tuesday evening. Forty-seven members and guests enjoyed "The Lincoln Story in Pictures" given by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bosket. A remarkable job was done by the Boskets in bringing the story to the audience. A running commentary linked the beautifully photographed pictures with the movements of the Lincolns through Kentucky, Indiana, and Illinois. Homey incidents in the life of the martyred president showed the character development of this man of destiny.

The Lincoln cabins at Hodginsville and Knob Creek in Kentucky were the scenes of boyhood activities. In Spencer county, Indiana were laid the scenes of his youth—here he secured most of his formal learning; here he furthered his education by reading from the libraries of friends; and here he lost his mother and acquired a lifelong friend—his stepmother.

At New Salem, which was a village of twelve cabins, two stores, and a mill when he first visited it, the character of the young man was further developed. The Old State House in Vandalia witnessed the success and failure of the young lawyer and representative, Lincoln.

His home in Springfield from which he left for Washington; the Old State House which he knew so well, and in which his body laid in state before interment at Oak Ridge cemetery were places dear to the heart of the man, Lincoln.

The thanks of the entire society was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Bosket. Yearly reports closed the year of 1955-1956 with the exception of the Nominating committee report which was postponed until the March meeting.

Delicious refreshments were served from a table covered with a red checked tablecloth and which had as a centerpiece a replica of Lincoln's cabin flanked with antique candle sticks. The social hour committee was composed of Mrs. James Garner, Mrs. E. B. Webster, Mrs. Ownley Furman, and Mrs. Roy Rievely.

Thwart Attempt of Two Youths to Dig Way Out of Saline County Jail

Two youths who broke jail at Statesville, North Carolina, and eluded an Indiana state police roadblock before being arrested near Wasson, were thwarted yesterday in their attempt to dig their way out of the Saline county jail.

The two are Kenneth A. Bishop, 18-year-old, AWOL Marine from Murphysboro, and James Arthur Trent, who is celebrating his nineteenth birthday today in a solitary cell on the second floor of the jail. Bishop also is being kept to himself in an upstairs cell.

Their operation was discovered about 5:30 p. m. yesterday by jail personnel who investigated noises coming from the cell bloc. Deputy Everett N. Sneed said today.

The pair, he said, had started digging through the floor at a place in the corner of the cell where new concrete had been poured over a hole that had been dug by workers.

The two had dug out a hole into the concrete about six inches in diameter and six inches deep and if they could have dug into the night there was a possibility they could have made a getaway, officers stated.

Officers learned that the two had started the digging operation yesterday morning, using two spoons, a piece of steel from one of the beds and the handle of an insecticide sprayer. The operation could not be seen from the runaround, one had to go inside the cell to see it.

Sneed said that Trent told them he did not want to take part in the escape plan, that Bishop threatened him if he didn't cooperate. Bishop did not deny this, he added.

After the plan was discovered, the two were taken upstairs and placed in separate cells.

Sneed said that Bishop, since his incarceration here late Saturday, had pulled loose a toilet stool from an upstairs cell in an unsuccessful effort to get below through the hole in the floor.

Face Return to N. Carolina

Sneed said the boys would be taken back to North Carolina to face state charges of auto theft there. Sheriff Charles Rumpole of Iredell county, from whose jail the boys escaped Feb. 1, told local officers last night that he would leave today or tomorrow for Harrisburg to return them to Statesville. The Federal Bureau of Investigation, which questioned the youths here, are turning the boys over to Sheriff Rumpole for state prosecution.

The two broke jail at Statesville and stole a car, which they drove to Mooresville, N. C. They abandoned it there and stole a later model, which they were driving when they came upon a roadblock between Indianapolis and Spencer, Ind. The pair wrecked this car in getting away from officers at the roadblock and hitch-hiked into Illinois, being picked up by Deputies Sneed, James S. Lyon and Jeff Stricklin on Route 45 near Wasson after questioning failed to produce answers that satisfied the officers.

A check revealed they were jailbreakers wanted for auto theft.

Trent's home is at Bradshaw, West Virginia.

Taxpayers Will Be Wise to Give Attention to Deductions on Tax Returns

Editor's Note: This is the fourth of five dispatches by Internal Revenue Commissioner Russell C. Harrington giving helpful advice on preparing income tax returns. This dispatch answers questions about deductions.

By RUSSELL C. HARRINGTON
Commissioner of Internal Revenue

Written for United Press
WASHINGTON (U.P.)—What is the difference between the standard deduction and itemized deductions?

May I take a deduction for payments to the nursery school my child attends?

How do I claim my medical expenses?

How do I compute the loss on my property which was damaged by a hurricane?

How much can I deduct for interest on the automobile I am buying on installments?

These and others are questions taxpayers have been asking at Internal Revenue Service offices this year. Some of the rules covering deductions were changed in the 1954 overhaul of the federal tax code, so you will be wise to give attention to the allowances which are available to you.

The standard deduction allows you approximately 10 per cent of your income for such things as charitable contributions, medical expenses, interest, state and city taxes, etc.—even if you did not spend that much of your income for those purposes.

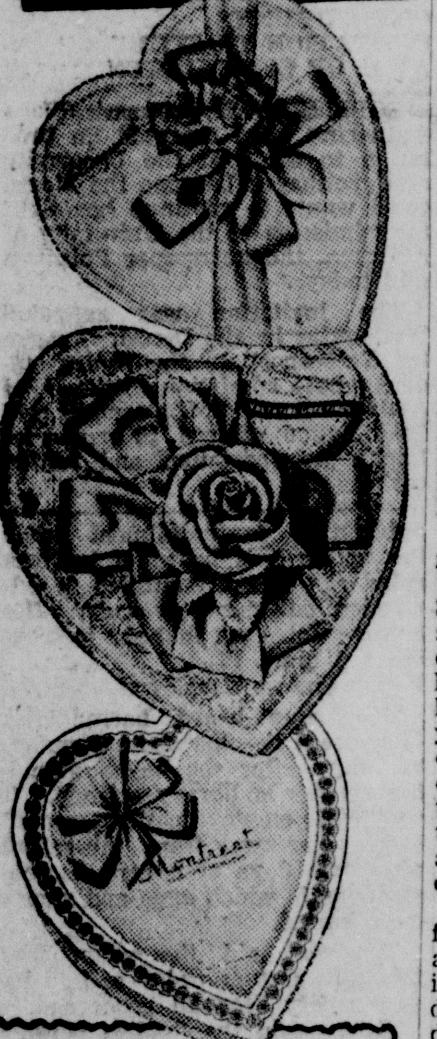

The standard deduction in no case permits you to deduct more than $1,000 for these items. In some cases it's less. Anyone may take it, but taxpayers who file a return on the card form 1040A or take their tax from the tax table, automatically take it.

deductible expenses come to more than the standard deduction allows, your best bet may be to list them all, in the spaces provided on page 2 of the form 1040. Listing your deductions item by item removes you from the percentage and dollar limitations of the standard deduction.

One deductible item which has aroused much attention in the new tax law is expenses for the care of children and disabled dependents. Contrary to the views of some people, you are not permitted to deduct for baby sitters fees when you go out to the movies. It applies primarily to women who are working or actively looking for work. It also applies to a man whose wife has died, a man who is divorced and has not remarried, and a man who is legally separated from his wife under a decree of separate maintenance.

Women and these eligible men may deduct up to $600 a year, if it costs that much to have someone look after the dependent or dependents while the taxpayer is working or looking for work. The dependent being taken care of must be the taxpayer's child, step-child or legally adopted child under 12 years of age, or must be some other dependent who is physically or mentally incapable of caring for himself.

Regardless of the number of children or disabled dependents being cared for, the taxpayer may not deduct more than $600, and may not deduct that much if the care expenses actually come to less.

A working wife may claim the deduction only if she files a joint return with her husband. If their combined income runs over $4,500 the amount they may deduct is reduced. For example, if they spent $400 for child care, and their income was $4,600, they could deduct only $300.

Nursery School Deduction

The answer to the question about deducting the cost of nursery school for your child is: Yes, but only the cost incurred during periods you are working.

You may not deduct amounts paid to one of your children to take care of another, or amounts paid to some other dependent of yours to take care of the child. And if you have a maid or housekeeper who cares for the child in addition to other duties (such as cooking, cleaning, laundering), you may deduct only that part of her pay which represents the time she spends caring for the child.

Medical expense deductions top the list of questions which taxpayers ask year after year.

Basically, you are allowed to deduct medical and dental expenses if they run higher than 3 per cent of your income. You do not deduct that first 3 per cent portion, but you do deduct the amount above that. There's an important exception to this: If you are 65 or older, you may deduct all your medical expenses up to certain maximum amounts.

These are the limits: A single person claiming only the one exception for himself is limited to medical and dental deductions of not more than $2,500 per year. Married couples filing a joint return may not deduct more than $5,000 in one year, not more than $7,500 if they have one dependent; and not more than $10,000 if they have two or more dependents.

Medical and Dental
Payments to physicians, surgeons, dentists, optometrists, qualified psychologists and Christian Science practitioners. Also diagnosis, treatment, prevention of a disease; hospital expenses, nursing, laboratory services; eyeglasses, hearing aids, drugs (to the extent you pay out more than one per cent of your income for your total drug purchases); medical and dental supplies (including artificial teeth and limbs); ambulance hire and health insurance plans which cover the cost of medical care.

Note: If you receive payments from a health insurance plan, or are otherwise repaid for your medical and dental expenses, your deduction for these expenses is reduced accordingly.

I talked about storm and other casualty losses in an earlier article. These points are worth repeating:

Generally, the deduction you claim for storm, flood, or other casualty damage to your property is the difference between the value of your whole property immediately before the storm and its value immediately after the storm (before you clean it up). This is the general rule whether you lose one bush or a whole house.

The cost of repair or replacement is not a factor. Nor is sentimental value. And the loss to be claimed may not exceed the cost of the property.

Deductions for Interest

The final deductible item I shall deal with is interest—the interest you pay on mortgage, on an installment plan purchase, on a personal loan, or on back taxes.

In most of these cases, the interest is clearly designated and easily reported.

In the case of many purchases on the installment plan, however, there may be no interest fee as such, but it might be included as a part of the so-called carrying charge.

The law tells you how to figure interest in such a situation: Calculate how much you owed on your purchase at the beginning of each month; add these amounts; divide by 12; take 6 per cent of the answer and report it as interest. But the deduction, thus calculated, may not exceed the total carrying charge for the whole year.

To repeat, please keep these points in mind on all these deductible items; you may not claim them unless you list all your deductions, one-by-one; and you may not claim them if you take the standard deduction or if you file your return on form 1040A or take your tax from the tax table when filing form 1040.

Your instruction booklet has a list of typical deductible items.

Senate Probes Assured in Missiles Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sudden resignation of Air Force research chief Trevor Gardner brought quick assurances today of two Senate inquiries into a Pentagon row over guided missiles progress.

Gardner, assistant air secretary for research and development who will be called for questioning, announced Wednesday he is quitting because his superiors shaved his research requests by 200 million dollars.

He told a packed news conference that intercontinental ballistic missile development should be put on an "emergency wartime basis" and more money is needed for "many programs." He said a "large number" of scientists outside the Pentagon share his anxiety over American progress compared with Russia.

Sen. Harry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), persistent critic of administration defense policies, said he would call Gardner before his military applications subcommittee of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee this month to testify on ballistic missile progress.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.), a senior Appropriations Committee member, said his group would carefully examine whether enough money is being spent on missiles and would call Gardner "if necessary."

The 40-year-old research chief's resignation, which President Eisenhower is expected to accept in a few days — came at a critical time for the GOP administration. Gardner's claims fed new ammunition to Democratic critics who already were hammering away at alleged lags in missile development and defense economy.

Youth Held In White County Jail

CARMI, Ill. — Held in White county jail yesterday was Don Carraway, 19-year-old local youth and formerly of Eldorado, who State's Attorney William South said would be charged with assault with intent to rape.

Carraway, who just finished a 30-day jail term at Madisonville, Ky., for assault, was returned here yesterday to face the charges. He is accused by a 16-year-old girl of assaulting her after she and her 18-year-old sister were offered a ride from Carmi to New Harmony by Carraway and David Pearce, Carmi. South said that Pearce, also in jail at Madisonville, will be charged with rape upon his release there.

School Problems Group Studies Use Of Specialists to Ease Teacher Shortage

SPRINGFIELD — Use of part-time specialists from business and industry to help ease Illinois' teacher shortage today was under study by the State School Problems Commission.

The specialists would be recruited to teach such subjects as day care and mathematics "for an hour or so a day" according to a proposal put to the commission at a meeting Wednesday.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Vernon L. Nielsen pointed out such a plan would require a change in present law since only persons with teachers' certificates may not be paid for teaching.

Lester R. Grimm, Springfield, of the Illinois Education Association, told the commission the teacher shortage will be "a serious problem for at least the next 10 years."

He said business and industry compete with the state's public schools will have two million students by 1967.

Alertness of Watcher Leads to Discovery of Tomb

JERUSALEM — The alertness of a "sidewalk superintendent" led to New Jerusalem's first major archaeological find in recent years — a 2,000-year-old tomb in an excellent state of preservation.

Uri Levinsohn, a hardware dealer who dabbles in archeology, summoned experts from the government's antiquities department to examine a cave opened by workmen blasting a foundation in Jerusalem's Rehavia quarter.

They found themselves in the anteroom of a Hasmonaean tomb, dug in the 1st Century before Christ. Adjacent burial chambers held several skeletons and a number of coins establishing the date of the ancient mausoleum.

The main hall of the tomb, which is 18 feet long, 12 feet wide and 9 feet high, contains a number of murals — a relief of Judas's seven-branched candlestick, chalk-like drawings of boats and inscriptions in Greek and Aramaic which have not yet been deciphered.

A number of oil lamps and other ancient household utensils were found in the burial chambers.

Eisenhower-Will-Run Group Sees TV Campaign

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Eisenhower-Will-Run school of Republicans visualized President Eisenhower today in the role of a second term candidate conducting a "front porch" type of campaign by television.

That was the inference drawn by some Republicans from the President's news conference, remark Wednesday that he had never contemplated a barnstorming campaign, even if he had not suffered a heart attack.

While President Truman made effective use of that technique in 1948, Mr. Eisenhower made it clear that he regards it as improper for a president.

Mr. Eisenhower's news conference again provided evidence to strengthen the belief of both those who believe he will and those who think he will not run again.

Some Republicans saw the President fitting himself for a strength-saving campaign by television. Others saw evidence that he would not run in his continuing stress on his health and the fact that he expects to announce a decision by the end of this month.

"I feel confident that the President could confine his campaign to television appearances and win on that basis," said Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.). "I don't think the Democrats have any candidate who can lick him."

BRETHREN, Mich. (UP)—Twenty-six children were hospitalized and more than 100 others were treated Wednesday night for food poisoning blamed on potato salad served at a school lunch.

None of the children was in serious condition, a spokesman at a hospital in nearby Manistee said. Brethren is a village of 110 residents 23 miles from here.

Connie Mack, Ex-Owner of A's, Dies at Age of 93

President Eisenhower Leads Nation's Baseball Fans in Mourning

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A nation of baseball fans, from President Eisenhower to spectators who once cheered the world champion Philadelphia Athletics, today mourned the passing of Connie Mack.

Mack, 93, whose baseball fortunes plummeted from the dizzy heights of World Series victory 25 years ago to the depths of despair when his beloved club was sold 15 months ago, died quietly at the home of a daughter in the Mount Airy section of Philadelphia Wednesday.

The tall, white-haired "grand old man of baseball" passed away at about 3:30 p. m., a time of day when things were brightest for him in summers long past. Connie, a prime developer of the American League, was a picture of managerial efficiency in those days as he sat ramrod straight waving his scorecard from the dugout. Veterans and rookie players alike hastened to change their positions in accordance with Connie's scorecard signals.

At Mack's bedside were his four daughters and a grandson. His son Roy, had left 30 minutes earlier after spending most of the day with his father. Another son, Earle, was confined to his home by illness and his youngest son, Connie Jr., was working at his shrimping

Hall of Famers Mourn Death of 'Grand Old Man'

By United Press
Connie Mack's death cast a pall today even over baseball's Hall of Fame, which houses 14 immortals who once played under him.

Of those 14 Hall of Famers who once served under Mack, six—Eddie Collins, Eddie Plank, Chief Bender, Rube Waddell, Herb Pennock, and Jimmy Collins—were dead.

Seven of the other eight—Ty Cobb, Bob (Lefty) Grove, Jimmy Fox, Mickey Cochrane, Frank (Home Run) Baker, Tris Speaker and Al Simmons—joined the entire baseball world today in mourning the "Grand Old Man," who is enshrined in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., himself.

Cobb, who finished his career under Mack, called him "a kindly and fatherly man."

"I never enjoyed playing so much during all the years I was in baseball as the last two under him at Philadelphia," Cobb added. "There's no one I ever knew who could say anything against him, and that is pretty rare in baseball."

Grove, the fabulous fireballer who won 300 games during a 17-year career with the Athletics and Red Sox, said Mack "was the greatest man in the world."

Fox, the No. 1 home run hitter for Mack's great Philadelphia teams of 1929, 1930 and 1931, said: "There will never be another man in baseball like him. He was a grand, grand old guy and his death is a tremendous loss to the game."

Cochrane, generally regarded the finest catcher ever to serve under Mack, remembered how he questioned Mack's choice of the fading Howard Ehmke as the Athletics' starting pitcher in the opening game of the 1929 World Series against the Cubs.

"Are you really going to start him? I asked Mr. Mack. 'Yes, he's sure going to start,' he answered me. 'Is it all right with you?'"

Baker, the third baseman on Mack's championship teams of 1910, '11, '13 and '14, called his ex-boss "the outstanding manager of all time."

Speaker, who like Cobb spent the twilight of his career at Philadelphia, said Mack was "very kind and very gentle."

Simmons, who reported to the Athletics with his odd "foot-in-the-bucket" stance, never had his batting style changed by old Connie.

"There aren't enough words to describe the kind of wonderful person he was," Simmons said. "He was just like a father to me and no one will ever know how much I will miss him."

Salukis Drop Overtime Tilt To Washington

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Southern Illinois university just missed its biggest upset of the year here last night as the Salukis dropped a heart-breaking 64-62 overtime decision to strong Washington university of St. Louis.

Sophomore Warren Talley, Pinckneyville, Southern's pace-setter with 14 points, sank a high 30-footer at the end of regulation time. Because of the crowd noise, the officials asked for a timer's decision. Southern's timer ruled the horn had sounded before the shot was attempted, sending the game into overtime.

After Washington's Ed Cristal had hit a short jump shot in the first overtime, Talley came back with a setup to tie the score. Jim Barton, Washington's 6-3 ace from Edwardsville, sank a drive in shot, and SIU captain Joe Johnson, Mt. Vernon, hit two free throws to knot the count at 59-59 at the close of the first overtime.

Cristal hit a short jump shot early in the second five minutes of overtime and his teammate, Art Borchers, added two free throws to put Washington ahead to stay. Cristal added another free pitch shot 25 seconds to go. Southern fought back and Johnson made a long field goal just as the game ended. He also was fouled and hit his free throw, but SIU was left on the short end of a 64-62 count.

Win With Free Throws
The Bears won the game at the free throw line, hitting 22 of 30 attempts, while the Salukis, usually good free throw tossers, made only 10 of 22. Southern made five more field goals than the winners. Jim Barton was high for Washington with 26. Cristal scored 12.

Southern's big weapon was its rebounding strength as the Salukis grabbed twice as many rebounds (50-25) as the Bears. SIU center Gus Doss, 6-6 sophomore from East St. Louis, took 18 rebounds and received considerable help from Seymour Bryson, Quincy, and Talley.

The Bears led, 27-25, at the half and held an advantage throughout the second period until Talley stole a Washington pass and drove for a setup to tie the score, 53-53, with three minutes left. Talley came back with a long side shot to put SIU ahead, 55-53, but Borchers tied it, 55-55, with free tosses at the 90-second mark.

Southern then gambled on a stall, setting the stage for Talley's last, second attempt. Thinking Southern had won, SIU fans swept down on the floor and had to be waved back into the stands before an overtime could begin.

Following Talley's 14 points were Johnson with 13 and Dick Blythe, Hammond, Ind., and Larry Whitlock, Mt. Vernon, with 10 each. Bryson had 8 and Doss 7.

The Salukis play two road games this week end, meeting Central Michigan Friday night and Michigan Normal Saturday.

Earthquake Hits California Area

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)—A sharp rolling earthquake, followed by aftershocks, jolted southern California today.

The tremor broke a water main at nearby Holtville and shattered windows in Calexico on the California-Mexico border.

Dr. Charles Richter, of Pasadena's California Institute of Technology, said it appeared to be one of the stronger shocks, south of the Mexican border.

Richter said the quake occurred at 8:33 a. m. CST and registered an intensity of 6.8 on the Richter scale of 10. He said the center of the quake was approximately 240 miles southeast of Pasadena. This would be in Mexico. Cal Tech seismologists reported shock readings some two hours after the quake.

Lighting fixtures in Los Angeles buildings swayed for several minutes after the early shock but sheriff's deputies reported no damages.

Bull Dogs Play Centralia Here Friday Night

Mt. Vernon Meets West Frankfort in South Seven Play

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs play a single contest this week, entertaining Centralia at Davenport gym Friday night.

Centralia, with not too much height, has been a so-so ball club this year, winning some games fans thought they would lose and losing some tilts fans thought they ought to win.

In the one encounter between Harrisburg and the Orphans a month ago—Jan. 6 to be exact—the Bull Dogs dropped a 69-58 decision because the locals chose to blow up in the second quarter, when the Orphans scored 24 points to but six for the Bull Dogs.

Harrisburg for the most part has played better ball since that time (excluding the Marion tilt here and the Benton game there) and it is not at all an impossibility to win the contest. The odds are with Centralia and the Orphans may even make a rout of the contest, but still Harrisburg, by working for good shots and putting up a good defense, could upset the Orphan apple cart.

At present Centralia is 5-4 in the South Seven, Harrisburg 1-8.

Mt. Vernon, current leader of the loop pack, will entertain West Frankfort, in third place, Friday night. Marion, in fifth place, will travel to Benton for a tilt with the sixth place team. Herrin, pressing the Rams for the lead with only one loss, is idle Friday but plays the only South Seven game Saturday night, travelling to West Frankfort.

Other Friday night games are Eldorado at Carmi, Carrier Mills at McLeansboro, Rosiclare at Galatia, Pope County at Shawneetown, Ridgway at Equality, Vienna at Cave-in-Rock, Lawrenceville at Salem, Zeigler at Hurst-Bush, Johnston City at Carbondale, Chester at Du Quoin and Tamaroa at Thompsonville.

Saturday night finds Galatia at Carrier Mills, Mt. Vernon at Salem, Marion at Murphysboro, Du Quoin at Anna, Carbondale at Sparta and Effingham at Pinckneyville.

The South Seven standings:
Team W L
Mt. Vernon 9 1
Herrin 6 6
West Frankfort 5 3
Centralia 5 4
Marion 4 7
Benton 1 7
Harrisburg 1 8

Gray Nominates Frederick, Stroke To A. F. Academy

Joe Frederick, son of Mrs. Jean Frederick, has been nominated to the United States Air Force academy in Colorado by Cong. Kenneth J. Gray of West Frankfort.

Also included in the list of nominations is Ronald Gene Stroke of Eldorado. Frederick was a star in both football and basketball at Harrisburg Township high school who was graduated in 1953. He has been attending the University of South Carolina at Columbia for the past three years. At HTHS he was a regular on the school's South Seven championship basketball team and was an end of the All-South Seven team his senior year.

Nomination to the academy authorizes the young men to take competitive examinations for entrance. Those from Gray's 25th district will take their examinations at Scott Air Force base at Belleville.

Candidates will be required to undergo medical examinations along with pilot, observer and scholastic aptitude tests. From approximately 5,310 nominations, 300 Air Force cadets will be chosen to enter the Academy in July. Illinois is allotted 13 vacancies in the Academy; so each nominee will be competing with approximately 270 other Illinois youths for these 13 vacancies. Each congressman and senator is allowed 10 nominations.

Other Gray nominations: Glen Kenneth Allen of West Frankfort, Dallas Eugene Barnett of Zeigler, Lou Gilbert Bertone of Herrin, Dale Bode of Waterloo, Robert Edward Crim of Carbondale, Donald Russell Margenthaler of Pinckneyville, Philip Norman of Marion and Freddie Ray Seiberg of Sparta.

Pvt. Bobby C. Hughes, son of Milas Hughes, Shawneetown, and whose wife, Lois, lived in East Chicago, Ind., recently arrived in Alaska and is now a member of the 71st Infantry Division's 53rd regiment at Fort Richardson. He entered the Army in August 1953 and completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He was last stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga.

Junior High, Carrier Mills Play Tonight For Regional Title

Harrisburg and Carrier Mills will play this evening for the championship of the regional grade school basketball tournament being held in the local Junior high school gym.

The two Saline county schools advanced into the title game by defeating Norris City and Grayville Wednesday in the semifinals.

Harrisburg won from Norris City in the first game last night 55-32. The locals were on top at the end of every period 16-7, 33-15, 48-22 and the final, 55-32.

Carrier Mills also led Grayville all the way, 17-13, 34-22, 52-33 and 70-46.

Tonight Grayville and Norris City play at 6:30 for third place honors, then comes the championship game. There will be four trophies awarded following the final game.

Both Harrisburg and Carrier Mills are assured a berth in the grade school state meet, which will be played the week of Feb. 20-25, as both winners and runnersup of regionals go to the state tournament.

Seek Survivors Of Plane Downed In Atlantic Ocean

HALIFAX, N. S. (AP)—An armada of planes searched today for survivors of a downed U. S. Air Force B26 bomber believed to be tossing helplessly in a rubber dinghy in the storm-lashed Atlantic Ocean.

An Air Force spokesman said the search area was being lashed by heavy rains today. Rough seas are hampering the search.

The Air Force said the only hope for the survivors would be if they had lashed themselves to the dinghy and could survive the tempest.

A spokesman for the USAF Sixth Air Rescue Unit at Fort Pepperell, Nfld., said the pilot ditched his twin-engine bomber carrying three men late Wednesday when heavy ice formed on its wings.

The plane, one of two flying from Keflavik, Iceland, to Goose Bay, Labrador, was last heard from about 5:30 p. m. EST. At that time the crew of the second B26 heard the pilot radio that he could not carry on. The second plane also was heavily coated with ice but completed its overwater flight.

Plane Explodes; One Of 9 Aboard Killed

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—An Air Force C47 en route from Norton Air Force Base, San Bernardino, Calif., to Chicago, exploded on takeoff at Cheyenne Municipal Airport today.

One of the nine military personnel aboard was killed.

The Air Force said the other eight persons were hospitalized for observation. None was believed injured seriously. A spokesman at Warren Air Force Base here said preliminary investigation indicated the explosion was in the left motor. The fire was put out quickly with a hand extinguisher, he said.

U. I. Gizz Kids Drop 34-22 Decision in Wheelchair Game

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—The University of Illinois Gizz Kids dropped a 34-22 decision to the Flying Wheels Wednesday night in a wheelchair basketball game at Great Lakes Naval Training Center Hospital.

The winners, national wheelchair basketball champs from Long Beach, Calif., scored their fifth victory in eight games on their current nationwide tour.

Bill Fairbanks led the Flying Wheels with 12 points. Dick Arnold was high for Illinois with 6.

House Passes Bill Boosting Pay of Pre-Draft Volunteers

By United Press
The House today unanimously passed a bill designed to spur enlistments in the lagging military reserve program.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate for action, would raise from $50 to $78 a month the pay of pre-draft age youths who volunteer for the military reserves under the new six-month training plan.

Under the plan a pre-draft age youth can sign up with the reserves for six months active duty training, followed by 7 1/2 years in the ready reserve. This exempts him from the regular two year draft, which now is followed by a compulsory three years in the ready reserves.

Carpentier Revokes Driving Privileges Of St. Louis Woman

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier today revoked the driving privileges of Miss Nina P. Gross, 65, St. Louis, Mo., who was driving a car that killed 5-year-old Lesa Ann Ladd, Edwardsville, Tuesday.

Miss Gross was charged with leaving the scene of the accident on U. S. 66 at Edwardsville. She was stopped and arrested a quarter-mile away by another motorist. She is charged also with reckless homicide.

Carpentier's order denied Miss Gross the right to drive in Illinois and notice was sent to the Missouri motor vehicle registration office at Jefferson City.

EXPENSIVE "ICE"—Model Edna Rae holds a 426-carat, $1,500,000 diamond, called the finest single stone ever dug in Africa, after it arrived in New York City from London. Yankees Get McDermott in Trade with Nats

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees acquired Mickey McDermott in their "annual pennant insurance deal" today and even the Washington Senators conceded the southpaw speedballer "will be a big help" to the defending American League champions.

The deal was the Yankees' answer to the key transactions swung earlier in the winter by their chief rivals—the Cleveland Indians, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox.

"Mickey had told people in our organization he'd like to go to the Yankees," Senator President Calvin Griffith disclosed. "He'll help them quite a bit, too. He'll have an incentive to produce for them."

McDermott had a 10-10 record with the Senators and ranked 14th in the league with a 3.75 earned run average last season. But he pitched only eight complete games and except for an 18-10 season with the Red Sox in 1953 has not reached the stardom predicted for him.

Specializes in Pitchers
Manager Casey Stengel will turn over McDermott to Jim Turner, his specialist in coaching pitchers, in the hope that Mickey's control can be harnessed. McDermott struck out 78 batters last season but walked 98.

The Senators also sent shortstop Bob Kline to the Yankees in acquiring catcher Lou Berberet, pitcher Bob Wiesler, outfielder Dick Tetelbach and infielder Herb Plews. The Yankees also agreed to send a "mutually agreeable outfielder" to the Senators by April 1.

"This is the kind of deal we like to make," Griffith said. "The men Washington obtained all fit into our program of rebuilding around 'hungry' prospects. They're eager to make the grade as big leaguers."

Senate Committee Votes 90 Per Cent Parity for Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee approved, 9-6, today a return to a rigid price support of 90 per cent of parity for millable quality wheat. Sen. Milton R. Young (R-ND) disclosed.

There also were strong indications that the committee again approved 90 per cent supports for corn, cotton and peanuts.

But Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) pledged the 14 other committee members to secrecy until the committee takes a final vote on an omnibus farm bill, probably later today.

'Tiger' Jones Knocks Out Tony Baldoni in Sixth

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ralph "Tiger" Jones, veteran Yonkers, N. Y. middleweight, smashed out a sixth-round knockout over highly touted Tony Baldoni Wednesday night after taking everything Baldoni could throw.

Jones was in trouble only once during the nationally televised fight. That came for a brief time in the fourth round.

But the "Tiger" came back fast. In the fifth round Jones dropped Baldoni, from Wilkes Barre, Pa., with a sharp series of lefts and rights.

Baldoni, blood streaming from his nose, took a nine-count. Referee Eddie La Fond asked Baldoni if he wanted to continue. Baldoni's answer was to charge wildly after Jones as the turn-away crowd of 2,500 roared.

In the sixth round Baldoni, who weighed in at 169, was flat-footed and dazed. The 157-pound "Tiger" had no trouble dodging his wild punches that carried no steam. He caught Baldoni with a sharp left and a solid right to send him sprawling to the floor.

Baldoni made a desperate attempt to get back on his feet. He almost made it, but fell back onto the ropes where La Fond caught him on the rebound, ending the fight at 2:30 of the sixth.

Organize Second Area Group to Hunt Uranium

ANNA, Ill. (AP)—Another group of southern Illinois residents is going to prospect for uranium by remote control.

A group of Anna men recently organized the Little Egypt Mining Co. to finance uranium prospectors in western states. The group plans to send two southern Illinois men to Utah, New Mexico or Colorado to hunt for uranium.

James B. McFadden of Anna said the group will sell 200 shares of stock at $150 a share to raise an operating fund of $30,000. McFadden said one-fourth of the stock has been sold so far.

The first "remote control" prospecting venture was set up almost a year ago by a group known as Southern Illinois Natural Resources Inc. The prospectors they sent west have reported a rich uranium ore find near Moab, Utah. Mining operations are underway there now.

Truman, MacArthur Differ Sharply In Versions of General's Firing

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur today gave sharply conflicting versions of Mr. Truman's world-shaking firing of MacArthur because "I could no longer tolerate his insubordination." MacArthur denied that he was insubordinate and said his dismissal "may well have been triggered" by his recommendation that a treason trial be initiated to break up a spy ring that was stealing his top secret reports to Washington.

MacArthur said he published his version of the famous firing because "Mr. Truman's narration does such violence to the truth that to remain silent would be a disservice to the nation." The general referred to the Truman version of his dismissal as "a labyrinth of fancy" and "fiction, distortion and misrepresentation."

The two versions appeared in separate articles published today by Life magazine. Mr. Truman's version of the dismissal was contained in the latest installment of his memoirs; MacArthur's in a special article giving his version of the dismissal.

Truman Statement
Mr. Truman said "I could no longer tolerate his insubordination" when MacArthur released a public statement March 24, 1951, the effect of which was "to threaten the enemy with an ultimatum." The statement said "The... enemy must by now be painfully aware that a decision of the United Nations to depart from its tolerant effort to contain the war to the area of Korea, through an expansion of our military operations to its coastal areas and interior bases, would doom Red China to the risk of imminent military collapse."

For a few days after hearing of the statement "I wrestled with the problem," Mr. Truman said, "but my mind was made up before April 5, when MacArthur sent a letter to House Republican Leader Joseph Martin praising Martin for his views advocating use of Nationalist Chinese forces in Korea."

Mr. Truman, who opposed use of the Nationalist forces, said he then called a conference with Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Secretary of Defense George Marshall and Presidential Assistant W. Averell Harriman. Another conference the next day also included Gen. Omar Bradley and the decision was reached then to dismiss MacArthur, Mr. Truman said.

MacArthur Reply
MacArthur said in his reply, however, that "what may well have triggered my removal" was his recommendation made shortly before his relief "that a treason trial be initiated to break up a spy ring responsible for the purloining of my top secret reports to Washington."

The general said the recent exposure of the British spies Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean began to reveal "the true facts." He said he believes that the Red Chinese decision to enter the Korean War "was predicated upon assurances previously given through Moscow" that the United Nations forces would not retaliate with attacks on the mainland of China. MacArthur charged that his dismissal "was no mere change of command. It was a vengeful reprisal."

Locate Navy Plane Missing In Antarctic

ABOARD FLAGSHIP U. S. S. ARNEB, Near New Zealand (AP)—A U. S. Navy plane missing in the Antarctic with seven men since Friday has been located and all aboard are believed unharmed, the Navy reported today.

A message to Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd's flagship from the search-rescue headquarters at Little America V said the missing plane, a Grumman Otter, was spotted by Lt. D. M. Sullivan, the task force photographic officer. Rescue operations will continue through use of helicopters from the American base. The icebreaker Glacier was ordered to rush as close as possible to the ice shelf with one of the helicopters.

The location of the mishap was given as 77.32 degrees south longitude, 154.10 west—just east of the Rockefeller Mountains and some 70 miles north of the trail used by the expedition members.

The missing Otter, a single engine plane equipped with wheels and ski runners for landing on the ice and snow, took off Friday from an advance base 230 miles from the South Pole for Little America.

The last definite voice contact with the plane was logged an hour and seven minutes after its take-off.

Distress signals were heard Friday and Saturday from an emergency radio which appeared to be from a Navy "Gibson girl" which the Otter party could have.

Surface search parties from Little America and the advance base failed to sight the plane before they met 300 miles from Little America.

They were rescued from the burning house by a neighbor, Edward Miller. Woo from the house was blown 100 feet. Damage to the house was estimated at $9,000. A grocery next door suffered $2,000 damage and a neighbor's house was damaged to the extent of $1,000.

Waitress Claims She Served Irvin At New Orleans

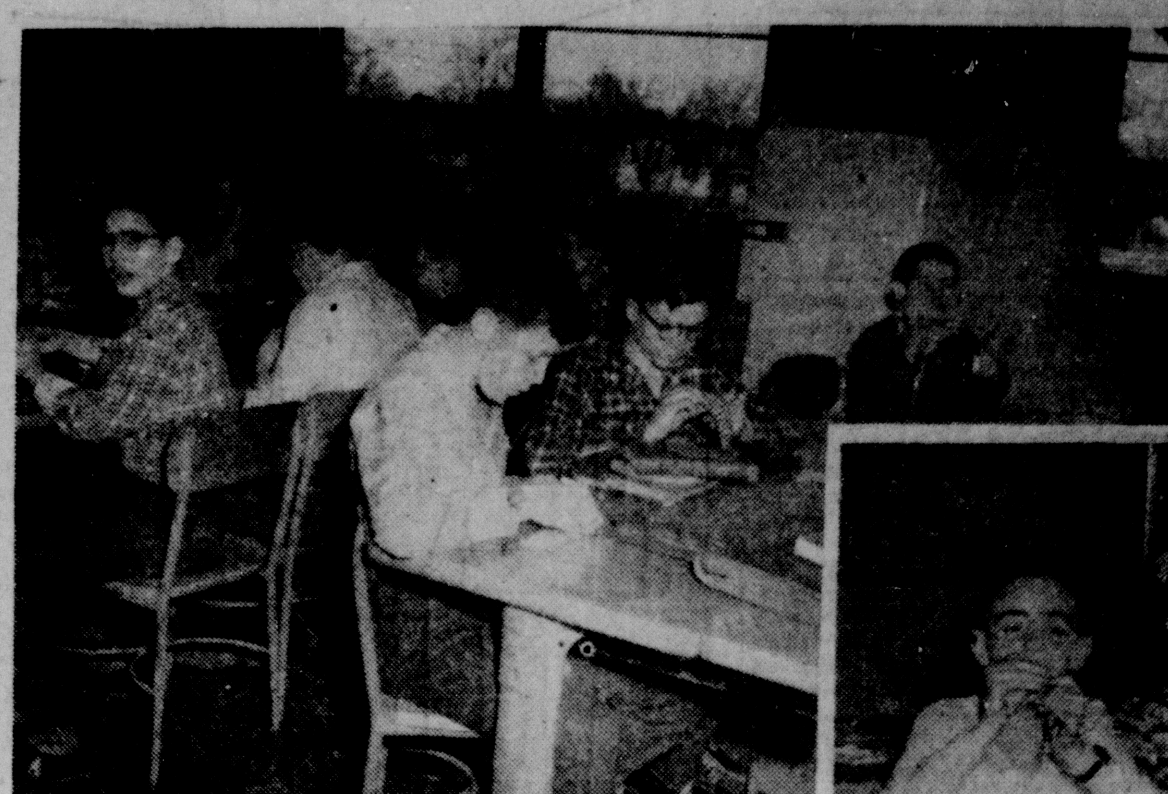

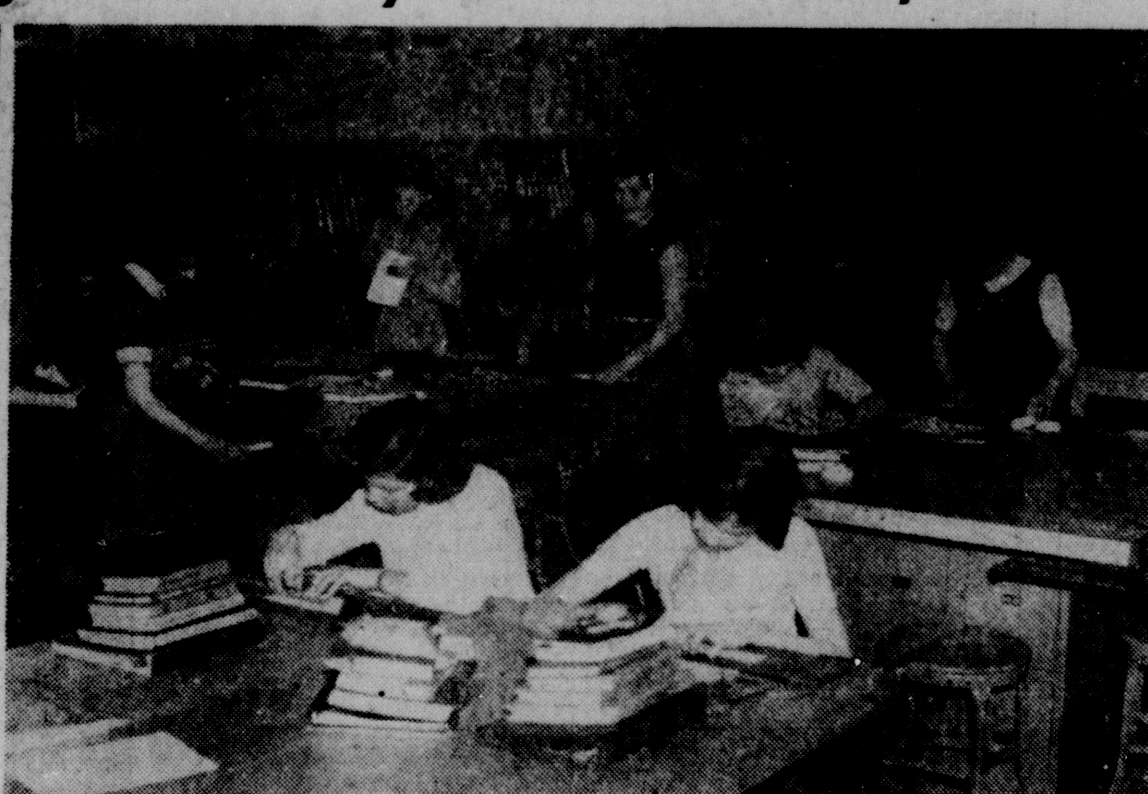

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A waitress in a Canal Street cafe told police today she served "mad dog" killer Leslie Irvin a bottle of beer at 7 a. m.

The waitress, Mrs. Laverne Mills, recognized him from his picture and in newspapers and wrote a note to the cook which read "call police." By the time officers arrived, the man was gone. They confiscated the bottle and attempted to obtain fingerprints from it.

Irvin reportedly was spotted in Yuma, Ariz., Tuesday night after a border patrolman became suspicious when a waitress told him two men had given her a $20 tip for taking their meals to a nearby motel. The waitress identified Irvin from a picture shown her by FBI agents.

She said she had overheard Irvin and his companion, identified only as Rickart, discussing a trip to New Orleans. Irvin broke out of jail at Princeton, Ind., Jan. 19 where he was under death sentence for the 1954 murder of a filling station attendant in Indiana.

Junior High School Boys Cook and Sew, Girls Hammer and Saw

For several years at the Harrisburg Junior high school the boys in industrial arts and the girls in home economics classes trade courses of study for a six weeks period. During this time the boys are taught some of the mysteries of cooking and sewing. The girls learn the use of hand tools and make articles that are comparatively simple, but useful. Seventh grade girls make broom holders and sewing boxes are the project assigned eighth grade girls. They must draw their own diagram to scale, learn to use a square, saws, hammers, dress down the finished product and stain. The seventh grade boys are taught to read recipes, learn the use of measuring and cooking terms. They make hot chocolate, mashed potatoes, biscuits, cook eggs various ways and make candy and cookies. They are also taught to clean the stoves, sinks and cooking utensils, to wash dishes and properly set a table. Eighth grade boys learn to sew by hand, such as patching and sewing buttons, but do not use the sewing machines. Nehru Displays Knowledge of Bible, Listens to Billy Graham on World Peace

By GEORGE BURNHAM
Chattanooga News-Free Press Staff Writer

DELHI, India — Prime Minister Nehru of India, who has described himself as Hindu by birth, Moslem by culture and Christian by ethics, seemed a bit preoccupied at the end of his 30 minute talk with Billy Graham.

Nehru had been holding a lot of conferences on world affairs and had talked with a lot of important foreigners. He might have been thinking about any number of world-shaking problems.

But he warmed up and was very gracious as he talked with the most listened-to evangelist in history. The Prime Minister displayed an amazing knowledge of the Bible.

He was impressed by the story of the Good Samaritan but feels that Christian nations have too often treated India as the priest and the Levite treated the victim. His antagonism, if any, is toward the behavior of Christian nations and not Christianity itself.

Nehru, son of a wealthy lawyer, spent 14 years in jail in his fight for Indian freedom and he has been portrayed as a strong negotiator for world peace. It was on this point that he did a little listening to the young preacher.

Billy told him that the world respected him as a man of peace. But he added, "Peace conferences are no stronger than human nature and human nature is diseased. Despite all his culture man continues to lie and steal and fight. In over 3,000 years of history there have been only 300 years of peace. Why? It is because man has rejected God's offer of peace through faith in His Son, Jesus Christ."

Billy added: "Christ can transform human nature. He transformed mine, and I have seen Him change the lives of thousands of others around the world." Billy gave Nehru his own testimony on the decision he made for Christ as a youth of 16.

"Before this decision to live for Christ I didn't care anything about God, the Bible or people. I was filled with intolerance, but the simple act changed my nature. I began to worship God and I loved people no matter what color their skin might be."

"Peace will come," he said, "when people turn by faith to Christ."

Nehru didn't say yea or nay along these lines but Billy said later, "I had a very strong impression that he was pro-Christian."

Freedom for Churches

India has taken restive measures against missionary activity but it is believed this objection is to foreign activity and not Christian activity. India wants people to come who will do something about providing its millions with homes, food, hospitals and schools. Protestant churches here have complete freedom in all of their work.

A vast majority of India's 10,000,000 Protestants are concentrated in the south. In the capital city of Delhi there are only about 10,000.

Crowds for Billy's meetings in Delhi have been smaller, averaging around 7,000. But there has been a greater percentage of decisions than anywhere. Over 600 walked forward at each service.

Many leaders of the government were present. Rajkumari Amrit Kaur, minister for health and close friend of Nehru, presided at the opening service. Sitting on the platform were five ambassadors Crosley, Bendix Lines Displayed to Area Dealers by O'Keefe Distributing Co.

The latest in Crosley home appliances and Bendix laundry equipment were displayed to southern Illinois dealers at a recent meeting held in the Gold Room of the Lyman hotel, Herrin.

Sponsoring the dinner and sales meeting was the O'Keefe Distributing Co. of Carrier Mills, distributor of Crosley and Bendix appliances and two queens.

Billy delivered a simple Gospel message and gave an invitation. People crowded to the front. The chairman of Graham's Delhi committee left his place on the platform and stood with his converts. He went to Billy after the meeting and said: "I didn't know what the people might think if the chairman of the committee admitted his life wasn't right. But I didn't have peace in my soul and I had to take my place before the platform. Now I have peace."

pliances in a 34-county area, including 26 southern Illinois and eight western Kentucky counties. This was one of three such meetings held by the O'Keefe Distributing Co. to introduce the latest Crosley and Bendix equipment to their dealers. Attending the meeting in Herrin were 110 people, representing 43 dealers from 21 counties.

Representing the O'Keefe company were Joe Gaul, general manager and head of the sales department; Glendal Dunbar, credit manager; Armita Blue, home economist; Gene Hamp, parts manager; Bob Doerr and Bill Dean, district managers.

Three dealers in this area were recognized for their outstanding sales over a two-month period and were awarded Gruen watches by Mr. Gaul. Receiving the watches were C. L. Ross of Marion, Bert Teffertiller of McLeansboro and Cecil Teffertiller of Grayville. A new and advanced series of Crosley television receivers and additions to the line which features a retractable antenna were announced at the meeting.

The series which features an exterior plug-in antenna and leather-like finish on top has been expanded and improved. It now includes three 17-inch and two 21-inch table models and four 21-inch consoles.

Also introduced to the dealers were a new line of Crosley radios, the latest models of Crosley refrigerators, portable air conditioners and Bendix laundry units.

Local area Crosley dealers at the meeting included Wayne Craggs and Bill DeVille of the Craggs-DeVillie furniture and appliance stores in Harrisburg and Eldorado, Earl Vaughn, manager of the Harrisburg store, and John Smith, manager, and Clifford Bennett of the Eldorado store.

Representing the O'Keefe Lumber company in Carrier Mills were Loren Dallas, Freeman O'Keefe and Ovie Edwards.

Dulles' Difficulty Attend Gift Show

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
There appears to be very little wrong with Secretary of State Dulles that a good editor couldn't cure.

He really lives two lives. In one he is the man of action, and here his accomplishments are many. In the other he is the man of verbal statement, and in this he finds himself again and again in hot water.

One of his principal troubles seems to be that he permits too flashy a "lead" to be put on what he says. An example is his latest difficulty, an article in Life magazine which quotes him liberally on how the United States has met specific crises in Korea, Indochina and Matsu-Quemoy in the past three years.

According to Dulles, this country three times went to the brink of war but was saved from it by threats of stern action, including atomic retaliation.

Democrats have assailed these declarations and accused Dulles not only of historical inaccuracy but of contradicting his own secret testimony before a congressional committee.

British and French diplomats likewise have questioned his accuracy, and have announced their shock that he would talk glibly of seeing the United States go to the "brink" of war.

The matter of Dulles' accuracy can only be settled by recourse to the documents, a process which will require days and weeks.

What evidently disturbs his critics most, however, is the "brink of war" philosophy ascribed to him in the article.

Said Dulles: "The ability to get to the verge of war without getting into the war is the necessary art. If you cannot master it, you inevitably get into war. If you try to run away from it, if you are scared to go to the brink, you are lost. We walked to the brink and we looked it in the face."

In the European view, no man or nation should walk that close to all-out war in this Atomic Age. Yet it is very likely that, as he has often done before, Dulles has over-stated his case in trying to make his point. That's where the good editing ought to come in.

Nevertheless, he has a point that is fundamentally sound: Clear willingness to use force if pushed too far is a deterrent against aggression. Had we evidenced that willingness in early 1950, the Communists never would have attacked South Korea. They thought we would not fight to save it.

Furthermore, the "show of force" deterrent is an age-old device of European diplomacy. Britain and France did not hesitate to use it when they held power. Today we, not they, have the power and are looked to for preservation of peace. Europe's reported shock at hearing we have employed the weapon of deterrence seems something less than a realistic response.

In standing behind Dulles as the best secretary of state he has ever known, President Eisenhower pinned his defense on policy grounds — not Dulles' words. He stressed that America must stand firm in its program for waging peace with justice. If that be interpreted as standing at the brink, he said, then that is because other nations are creating the circumstances that produce the perilous situation.

After all, Dulles did not create the crises in Korea, Indochina and Matsu-Quemoy. He did not lead us to the brink just to see how close we could get to war. He was concerned to avoid it, but he was convinced the way to do that was to let the enemy know exactly what he could expect from us.

It is not what Dulles has done but what he said that has brought him fresh difficulty. His choice of language has alarmed a good many. But his policy of deterrence should shock no friend of freedom. It has worked where negotiation — or silence — has failed and led us into war.

"All the way, please!"

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Death Of Oregon's Governor Patterson Upsets Eisenhower; Senator Kennedy Urged To Speak On Irish Problem During Prime Minister's Senate Visit; Senator Symington Gets Stymied.

WASHINGTON — Two tragic deaths in the past few days have given pause to those concerned with picking the next President of the United States.

One was the death of Randolph Paul, one of the nation's greatest tax attorneys and former counsel of the Treasury Department. Paul probably had written more tax law than any other single man. Patriotically, he gave his time to Senate committees long after he left the government. A few years ago he had suffered from a heart attack, and this week while testifying before a congressional committee on economic matters, suddenly slumped forward from a second attack and died within a period of seconds.

Paul was 65 years old, exactly the same age as the President. The second tragic death was that of Oregon's popular Paul Patterson, Republican, who also had been nursing a heart condition, but who had finally been persuaded to run for the Senate against Wayne Morse, Democrat.

Patterson had not wanted to run. Neither he nor his wife, Georgia, had been well during the past year. But political pressure mounted. Republicans were determined to get rid of Morse, who not only had rebelled against the Eisenhower administration but helped elect the first Oregon Democratic senator in 40 years, his former pupil, Richard Neuberger.

Among those who applied the heat to Patterson were John C. F. Higgins, ex-law partner of John Foster Dulles; Ted Gamble, the state magnate and behind-the-scenes bigwig of the Oregon GOP; plus Paul B. McKee, president of Pacific Power and Light.

A few close friends of frail Governor Patterson tried to protect him, warned he would have difficulty withstanding a campaign against the horseback-riding, hard-driving Senator Morse. One of them was Hugh Barzee, Patterson's legal adviser. But, obsessed with a hatred of Morse, Oregon's political leaders would not listen. With them was Secretary of the Interior Doug McKay.

Finally, to clinch matters, GOP leaders got President Eisenhower, who did not realize Patterson's frail health, to make a personal plea. At this point the governor accepted.

Forty-eight hours after accepting he was dead — of a heart attack.

Friends of the President say he was more upset over this than any other recent event.

IRISH SENATOR
Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.) had a laugh at Sir Anthony Eden's expense the other day, but Eden didn't know it.

The scene was the Senate floor just as the visiting British prime minister was entering to deliver his address to the solons.

As the tall and distinguished Briton walked down the aisle, Humphrey strolled over to red-headed Boston Irishman, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D., Mass.), placed a hand on Kennedy's shoulder and said:

"John, I'm all for a united Ireland and I know that you are too. Why don't you get up and say a few words about it while Mr. Eden's here?"

LIVID LYNDON
The backlash of Sen. Lyndon Johnson's revenge against opponents of the natural gas bill already has begun to be felt.

The astute Lyndon, who in one term became one of the most powerful leaders in recent Senate history, has his likes and dislikes. He plays favorites with open-faced charm and abandon. Then he can push a senator or block him, can put him on a key committee or relegate him to the ragtail District of Columbia committee.

Co-ed Future for Yale Predicted

MILWAUKEE — A Yale University professor says it is only a matter of time that Yale becomes co-educational.
Thomas C. Mendenhall, associate professor of history, told an alumni group here recently that it is a question of "how long Yale can continue to exist celibate."
He said the school has changed in recent years and warned the alumni that its "cloistered atmosphere" can not be recaptured.

Government Girls Getting More Girth

WASHINGTON — Congressional secretaries have grown in the last 10 years. Mrs. Irene Malloy, a Washington dress shop owner, says that "they used to buy size 9 and 10 dresses. Now 16's and 18's are popular sizes."

The target date for opening the five-mile bridge being built across the Straits of Mackinac is Nov. 1, 1957.

Every new automobile requires six tons of coal in its manufacture.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

THE STORY: Seeking permission to hold an autopsy on Frank Osborn, who has been dead six months, James Bennett, investigator for the State Industrial Welfare Commission, finds Osborn's widow dead. Someone took a shot at Bennett before he found the body, leading him to think that the death was not accidental.

I nodded. "Bullet, small caliber, in the heart region. Got her as she stood by the kitchen sink. Bullet went through the screen first. Looks like it was from the woods on the hill back of the barn."

The sheriff nodded grimly and turned to the young man. "Horace, go back there and look for cartridge cases, anything. If you see any kids with rifles, nab 'em and bring 'em here."

The young man strode away, a determined expression on his face. The sheriff went up the steps to the door. "Come on. This might be rough. Doc was sweet on Alice."

"He wasn't the only one," I said. He shot me a keen sidelong glance. "Meaning Wilbur Tweed?"

He eyed me carefully a moment, chewing his cigar. Then he said, "You know quite a lot—for a stranger in town." I followed him across the silent living room to the kitchen. Dr. Jarrett was on his knees beside the body of Alice Osborn. His hands were over his face.

The sheriff cleared his throat and said apologetically, "I had to call you, Doc, seeing as you're the coroner."

There was no answer. The sheriff sighed, chewed his cigar nervously, and gazed down at the body of Alice Osborn. I looked out the screen above the sink. I saw the young deputy emerge from the woods and come down the slope behind the barn, walking fast. The sheriff said, "Pretty, wasn't she?"

"Yes," I said. "Not pretty—pretty," he said. "Nice pretty. A—a fine woman. It's a shame."

Through the screen I saw the young deputy approach the back porch. His face was red with exertion and he appeared to be panting. He came into the kitchen and stopped when he saw the body on the floor. "Well, Horace?" the sheriff said heavily.

Horace glanced at the screen above the sink, and then faced the screen door. "There's a target up there, a bull's eye target, nailed to a tree. It's drawn with black crayon on cardboard." He paused and swallowed. "Looks like some kids been shooting target, with a .22 probably. They've scooted now, of course, but the target's in line with the house and they must have missed and—"

"Yes," the sheriff said, his lean old face grim. "She was standing by the window, peeling them potatoes and—did you bring the target?"

The deputy looked hurt. "No, sir. I figured you'd want to see it first, just like it was."

"Good boy," the sheriff said approvingly. "Go call Wilbur Tweed and tell him to come out and get—no, don't. I'll call him myself. You go in and keep an eye on Doc."

"Yes, Abner." The deputy moved past, glancing at me, and entered the living room.

I thought of the note Wilbur had written Alice Osborn. I couldn't picture them as married, but I face it. Dr. Jarrett faced it, didn't he? And besides, Wilbur needs the money."

His mouth widened. I suppose he meant it for a grin. "Everybody knows Wilbur is in financial trouble," he said. "In fact, I think that's why he wanted to marry Alice—to get his hands on her money. But it's only five bucks for an ambulance trip—seven-fifty, maybe, out here. The county commissioners got to approve it first." He gazed at the body of Alice Osborn. "I never heard she had any kin, and she'll be a county case—at least until the estate is probated."

"She's got a sister in Fort Wayne," I said, and for some sudden fantastic reason I almost added, "And she's got me."

His brows went up and he hitched at his belt. "How do you know so much about her?"

"We talked on the phone last night. I work for the Industrial Welfare Commission." "Mind telling me about it?" he asked mildly. "Later. You'd better call Wilbur—unless you want the lab men to move it first." "Lab men?" the sheriff said with a trace of bitterness. "We don't have a lab. We don't even have a fingerprinting outfit. Once in a while we get help from the Steel City force, but not often. I'm the only law in this county. We don't need flash bulbs and fingerprint powder for Alice. It's open and shut. She was peeling potatoes by the kitchen window. Kids shooting target in the woods up the hill. One of the slugs hit Alice."

"One almost hit me," I said, and told him about the bullet striking the porch beside my head. (To Be Continued)

As far as official records go, only five men in the United States ever stood more than eight feet

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

One big worry of motorists while driving during the winter is that their vehicle will suddenly be sent into a skid. Even the most alert, cautious driver faces the problem of suddenly losing control of his vehicle while driving on ice or snow during the winter. Any sudden stop or change of direction may throw the car into a dangerous skid.

If you are suddenly thrown into a skid, here is corrective action which should be taken: Turn your front wheels in the same direction as the car is skidding. Make sure your foot is NOT on the clutch pedal. Sometimes, it is helpful to step lightly on either the accelerator or the brake. However, heavy braking will only increase the danger.

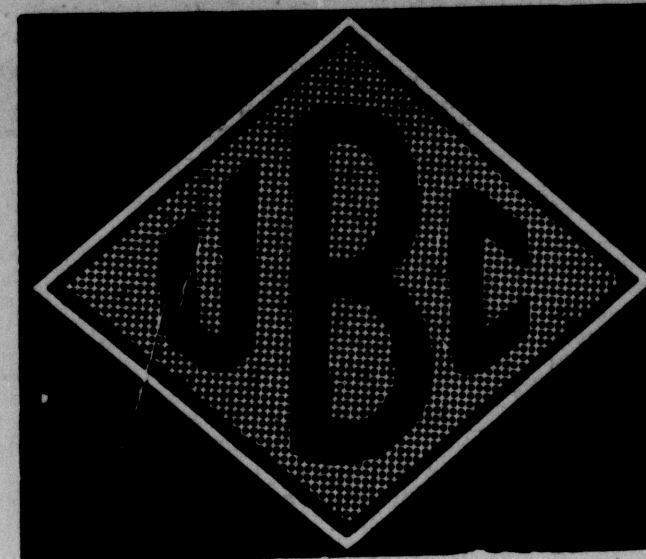

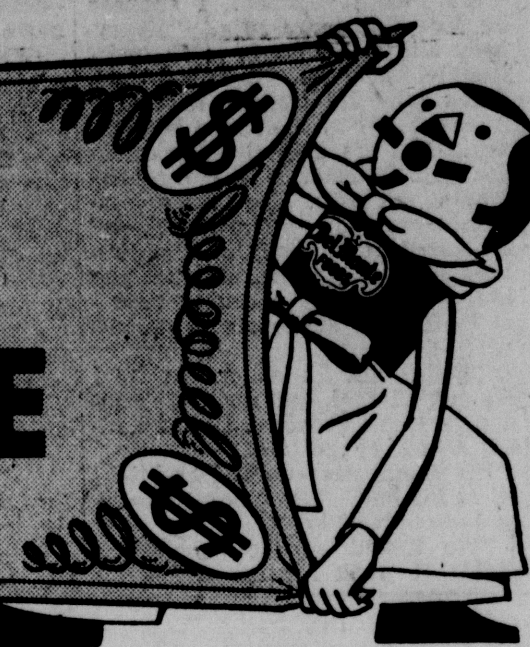

The accompanying sketch gives a graphic illustration of how a car should be maneuvered when it is sent into a skid. While everyone driving on ice or snow is exposed to the danger of his car starting to skid, it should always be remembered that safe driving lowers the possibility of such an occurrence.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.
